“Leadership” hovercraft

A journey through time in the world’s first hovercraft

The world’s first hovercraft, dating from 1915, was recreated in a unique project. As a secret project of the imperial and royal navy of the Austro-Hungarian Empire, the “experiment boat”, with its visionary design and enormous thrust, was far ahead of its time. More than one hundred years later, the replica, equipped with three engines and 710 HP (720 PS), operates as a speed boat on Lake Wörthersee. Its sound and vibrations are impressive.

The knowledge that has been acquired whilst organising these large-scale events (in sports as well as in the event sector) reflects the team's USP reputation.
The facility is architecturally remarkable owing to the dynamic super-elevation of the roof over the eastern stand.
