Award for the Carnic Alps geopark

The Moving Ideas for Carinthia competition was initiated by Land Kärnten and the Alpen-Adria-Universität Klagenfurt.

The geopark aims to be accessible to partially sighted visitors with its „Move Thoughtfully“ project. In this way, various rocks along a Kneipp path make geological history tangibly understandable, for example. Tactile ground markers, new media, etc. are utilised. What is actually available was devised by the Alpen-Adria-Universität Klagenfurt.

Therapeutic horseback rides with Reit-Eldorado

Horseback rides are good not only for physical and spiritual rehabilitation, but also social mingling. Riding enables good physical training, such as strengthening the muscles and improving elasticity and suppleness, and promotes stress relief, building new social contacts and a gentle getting out of isolation. Wheelchair users also gain 'four fit legs' on which they can move about freely.

Target groups:

All visitors with physical, learning and sensory impairments who are able to sit on a horse and control it without assistance.
